Used Ink Purge Motors

If your ink purge motors are in need of repairs or need to be replaced, then here is what you need. These used purge motors have been in storage and forgotten for about 5 years. We just found them in our warehouse stored in 55-gallon drums. We are offering them AS IS, but we do believe they are in good working condition. They were removed from a Goss Metroliner approximately 5 years ago and all were working when they were removed. There might be some old ink on them, but you can't beat it for this price. If you have any questions about this or any other pressroom related item, please give us a call.
