Anti-Dog Ears Second Folding Roller Finger

We are currently CNC machining these parts for several of our customers. After machining these parts we have a 93 Rockwell C coating applied to them. This coating is not only very hard but also has a very low coefficient of friction to help with your paper delivery. If you have a different part number for these parts, just get us a sample and we will put together a quote. If you have any questions about these or any other pressroom related item, please give us a call.
